1.0 Procedures

Communication, clarity of purpose and understanding of roles and responsibilities are essential for effective school events. Without these there is opportunity for potentially enriching, enjoyable and worthwhile events to be marred by criticism and incident.

- Good events are carefully planned well in advance and a variety of perspectives, outcomes and consequences considered and mitigated. Sharing these eliminates risk from the project and ensures a wider chance of stakeholder experience and satisfaction.
- A planning committee is to meet at least four weeks before the event to plan it using Part A of this document.
- The committee should consist of:
  - Event leader
  - A member of the finance team
  - A member of the marketing team
  - A member of school leadership team
  - Administrators
  - Academic staff
  - Where involved and applicable, parent representatives
  - Where involved and applicable, student representatives
  - Where involved and applicable, community and/or charity representatives
- Committee to complete the event planning form and present to principal/head for checking, comments and approval
- Principal/head to sign off form
- Information to be shared with the school community (students, parents and staff) before the event, including:
  - Dates, times and venues
  - Roles and expectations
  - Purpose and expected outcomes of the event, including learning opportunities
  - Details of charity being supported and when the money/ donation will be handed over
- Part B of this document should be used by the event leader to check all details are completed before, during and after the event.
